

Six level Illumination Switch Parts No.DA381-0

The Six-Level Illumination Switch on March scopes produces six levels of light intensity on the reticle for precision shooting in low light or night conditions. Rotating the knurled dial doubles the intensity with each increasing level. The rubber switch turns illumination on or off while maintaining the user-selected intensity level. After one hour illumination will automatically shut off to conserve battery life.

Deon Optical design Corp.